

BIDEFORD CAMERA CLUB

The club held its annual general meeting this week and it saw the standing down from committee of two stalwarts of the club. Mac Chivers has held multiple roles and as chairman has overseen some transformational changes for the club including the highly popular members evenings. While secretary Mike Middleton having been the backbone of club organisation for a number of years also stood down. Past club chairman Jim Richards paid tribute to them both for their unstinting efforts for the club. Two main resolutions came from the meeting – firstly to encourage the printing of photographs by members and to make the print competitions more accessible in terms of subject matter. Secondly it was resolved to be more receptive to phone photography and to acknowledge the superb results now possible with them and to welcome new members who wish to pursue this medium.

With only one more member session left in the hall where we will be introducing the summer programme. The first event on it will be really close to home on Bideford Quay, meeting at the Kingsley Statue. Anyone wishing to come along is welcome, please come over and make yourself known to one of the members – lots of cameras will be a bit of a giveaway as to our identify. We really are a friendly bunch so do come and have a chat.

New members are always welcome and can come along for a free taster session - for further encouragement email enquiries@bidefordcameraclub.co.uk or see the website <https://bidefordcameraclub.co.uk/>
